

Comfort

These buildings increase the morale of the compound's survivors by making the compound more homely and ultimately increasing their performance.